How can Application Acceleration Network (AAN) boost global data transmission rate for better business performance?

Case Study

An international Procure-to-Pay SaaS market leader, with offices in the US, China, Mexico, Singapore, India and the UK, is looking for a fast and secure solution to help customers in China to access the server in the US.

CMI's AAN Solutions to optimize international data transmission and reduce latency

The Challenges

- International data transmission in multiple nodes take a longer time to the destination

- Unstable and insecure data transmission due to multi–path routing

- Limited cross–border internet bandwidth for 4.7 billion international network users
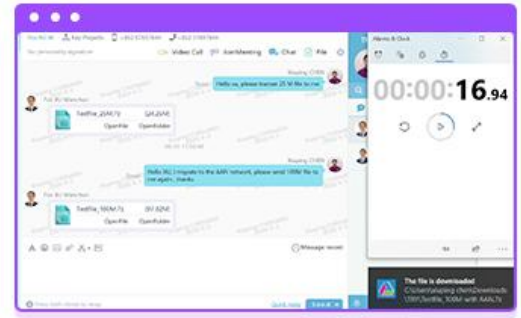

Our AAN Solutions

- Up to 8–time data transmission to fix packet loss by up to 35%

- Minute–grade service deployment with 20+ acceleration nodes across the globe

- Support multiple access and quick deployment in compliance with different countries or regions

- Support renowned cloud providers, such as AWS, HUAWEI CLOUD, Azure Cloud, Google Cloud and Alicloud, etc. to provide premium user experience at lower cost.
